FLASHPOINT

Tailored Reporting Services (TRS)

Intelligence teams are inundated with an abundance of information each day and often lack the resources, bandwidth, tools, and expertise to review it effectively.

Analysts require consumable reporting that includes context and analysis to address the most critical risks. With a complete understanding of threats and how they relate to an organization's intelligence requirements, analysts can prioritize and respond more effectively.

Overview

Flashpoint Tailored Reporting Service (TRS) provides a weekly report that addresses an organization's specific intelligence requirements and highlights relevant threats with further assessments.

TRS provides your analysts with the intelligence and context they need to stay informed on your organization's threat landscape. Using our technology and expertise, we identify and assess relevant threats and risks that are likely to impact your organization.

> TRS customers can see annual savings of $120,000 or more in analyst time saved and productivity gains

Key benefits

TIME SAVINGS

Our analysts use their domain expertise to deliver a concise report that includes all critical information, reducing investigation time for your organization.

TRUSTED INTELLIGENCE TEAM

Our analysts know what data to collect, have the agility to move collections capabilities to go where adversaries go, and can rapidly analyze, refine, and contextualize that data to produce intelligence that is meaningful.

GREATER DEPTH AND CONTEXT

From strategic, easy-to-consume reporting to tactical, programmatic feeds, we provide the relevant tactics, techniques, and procedures (TTPs), campaigns, and context to transform data into intelligence.

STRONG BENCH OF RESOURCES AND COLLECTIONS

Our multidisciplinary analysts speak over 35 languages and can deliver on an array of intelligence requirements. Our data and collections cover more regions, countries, and types of threat actors with a proprietary collections engine across numerous data sources.

TACTICAL AND OPERATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

Receive tailored insights about the most critical threats that directly address your organization. Our intelligence analysts provide additional assessments of these threats, as well as timely ad-hoc updates.
