Flashpoint for Law Enforcement

Technology, data, and intelligence, tailored for mission-driven teams

Cybercrime, terrorism, and trafficking are only a few of the challenges today's law enforcement teams face in their efforts to uphold public safety. Having spent years arming law enforcement teams in the fight against cyber, cyber-enabled, and physical threats, we have tailored our offerings to support your unique needs, challenges, and objectives.

To protect the public and national security interests, Law Enforcement teams need fast and secure access to data from open and closed sources, and intelligence support from experts who understand the intricacies and nuances of illicit communities and threat actor group operations.

Key Use Cases

Counter-narcotics
Access extensive social networks and illicit discussion channels to identify and stop illegal drug trafficking.

Counterterrorism
Access extensive social networks and illicit discussion channels to identify and monitor planning, recruitment tactics, and campaigns.

Crisis and Event Monitoring
Improve situational awareness with near-real-time global social media data. Identify mentions of relevant keywords, groups, and topics, and analyze their potential impact.

Criminal Intelligence
Connect people with places, events, or entities to discover and assess potential threat actors and their activities.
